What does a Blogger do?

The Good Careers Guide states that a Blogger writes articles and opinion pieces for websites. While they often work freelance for a range of clients, they can also be employed in-house. They write pieces that are less formal than traditional journalistic articles, with the main purpose of their work being digital marketing and search engine optimisation. The work they produce is designed to engage readers and drive website traffic.

Bloggers need to –

- be creative and original
- be able to pick out and emphasise relevant facts
- be able to write clearly and in a compelling manner
- have good concentration
- have the technical ability to switch between styles and forms of writing
- have good time management skills, and the ability to handle pressure

Bloggers often have a communication OR journalism qualification, or have completed courses in creative writing, marketing, etc.

MONASH University

Postgraduate Pathways to Engineering

Monash University now offers an additional pathway for students to become a qualified engineer.

The new, three-year Master of Professional Engineering is for graduates from fields such as science, mathematics or pharmacy, who wish to gain an accredited engineering qualification.

This course is for students who want to change careers and become an engineer, move into a different field of engineering, or are seeking an internationally recognised engineering qualification to build on their undergraduate engineering studies.

The course comprises technical, research and professional units, blending theory and practice. Students receive the same opportunities to undertake design and research projects, as well as Work Integrated Learning.

Specialisations are offered in chemical, civil, electrical, materials and mechanical engineering.

Bachelor of International Studies

The Bachelor of Arts (International Studies) at Deakin University is a course for students seeking an international orientation, with a commitment to a period of study at an overseas university, internship at an international organisation or participation in an in-country language program. Students should be interested in different cultures, languages and perspectives outside of their own.

In this course, students learn a range of skills in analysis and interpretation of the international forces shaping government, business and community life in contemporary Australia. They also develop an understanding of other countries and societies, as well as cross-cultural competencies, through an internationally oriented curriculum.

Students may study majors in areas of Anthropology, Arabic, Chinese, History, Indonesian, Italian, International Relations, Middle East Studies, Politics and Policy Studies, Philosophy and Sociology.

A popular and useful choice is to study a language, either within the three-year degree itself, or as part of a four-year combined Bachelor of Arts (International Studies)/Diploma of Language.

As part of the course, students are required to successfully take part in one of the following international study experiences:

- trimester of study at an overseas university exchange partner
- international internship
- in-country language program (in Chinese, Indonesian or Arabic)
- approved study abroad program or
- approved onshore internship with an international organisation.

This program is offered at the Melbourne (Burwood) and Geelong (Waterfront) campuses. The VCE entry requirements include Units 3 and 4: a study score of at least 25 in English EAL (English as an additional language) or at least 20 in English other than EAL.

The 2021 Lowest Selection Rank ATAR for the Burwood Campus is 61.70 and for the Waterfront Campus it is 61.75.

Applications for 2022 Entry

Current domestic Year 12 students who intend applying directly to ANU for undergraduate study in 2022 are advised that ANU will now make offers based on Year 11 results on 9 August 2021, and these will be honoured for study in 2022 as long as students have completed Year 12 and achieved an ATAR.

Should the Year 11 results not meet entry requirements, selection officers will automatically consider Year 12 results in the December offer round.

Students will need to meet the co-curricular or service requirement and ANU has adjusted its requirements due to the disruptions of COVID-19.

Applications will open on 3 March 2021 and will close on 24 May 2021. Students are advised to read through Application Information before applying at ANU Applications for 2022

Studying Digital Media at RMIT

Students enrolled into the Bachelor of Design \(Digital Media\) degree study common foundation principles on four specialisations in the 1st year, and then branch off into their specialisation from the second year. Some of the core disciplines of the field, including visual effects and compositing, motion graphics, interactive design, web and mobile media design, sound design, virtual and augmented reality design, digital installation design and digital media theory.

There are multiple offerings during their 2nd and 3rd year – students get to try different specialisations every semester so that they can really customise their qualification.

The specialisations include Interactive, Digital Sound, Digital Video, Digital Environments.

Students gain a solid grounding in contemporary digital media design theory through practice, and explore how digital content is planned, produced, applied, and integrated.

There are a broad range of industry partners, and the students' career outcomes are based on how they craft their course – which units they do, which specialisation they opt for. Students undertake industry internships in their final semester and have the opportunity for study abroad.

The VCE prerequisites are Units 3 and 4: a study score of at least 30 in English (EAL) or at least 25 in English other than EAL. The 2021 Lowest Selection Rank ATAR is 70.80
